Following his fellowship, Dr. Bierly served as Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology and Director of Corneal Surgery at the University of Kentucky. He also served as the medical director of the University's eye bank. In 1999, he was a co-founder of Southeast Eye Specialists in Chattanooga, Tennessee where he has a practice specializing in cataract surgery. He is a leader in the implementation of modern small incision cataract surgery and was the first surgeon in east Tennessee to perform laser assisted cataract surgery. Having performed nearly sixty thousand cataract surgeries, Dr. Bierly has extensive experience in the use of specialty lenses for the correction of astigmatism and presbyopia.
