

AES

Atlantic Eye Symposium

Dr. Joshua Teichman received his Bachelor of Science from Queen's University then earned his Doctor of Medicine from Western University. He completed a Residency in Ophthalmology at McMaster University, a Research Fellowship at the University of Toronto, a Master of Public Health focusing on Clinical Epidemiology and Biostatistics, and a Surgical Fellowship in Cornea, External Disease, Anterior Segment and Refractive Surgery at the University of Ottawa. Dr. Teichman has won numerous awards from the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery, the Canadian Ophthalmological Society and the University of Toronto/Trillium Health Partners. Dr. Teichman is a Cornea Section Editor at the Canadian Journal of Ophthalmology and supervises the Cornea, External Disease and Refractive Surgery Fellows at the University of Toronto