

AES

Atlantic Eye Symposium
www.atlanticeye.ca

Bernard R. Hurley, BSc, MD, FRCSC is an Assistant Professor at The University of Ottawa Eye Institute where he is also the former residency program director and the current fellowship program director and medical director of the ophthalmic medical technology program. He has received awards for top clinical instruction in the department in 2022, 2021, 2016, 2013 and 2011. He completed his post-graduate medical education with a Retina Fellowship at the Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia where he was twice awarded the Outstanding Fellow Award. He has written several chapters and has been the author or co-author of many peer-reviewed publications on topics including diabetic retinopathy and age-related macular degeneration. He has received research support from the E.A. Baker Foundation. He has a particular interest in the treatment of diabetic retinopathy and age-related macular degeneration.