

AES

Atlantic Eye Symposium

Christopher S. Sales, M.D., M.P.H. is an Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology at Weill Cornell Medical College in New York City, adjunct faculty at Cornell University's Meinig School of Biomedical Engineering, and Associate Medical Director at the Lions VisionGift Eye Bank in Portland, Oregon and Boston, Massachusetts. Dr. Sales studied International Relations at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island, earned his medicine and public health degrees at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, Massachusetts, and served as an intern in internal medicine at Harvard Medical School, Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center. He completed his ophthalmology training at Stanford University, corneal transplant and anterior segment training at the Devers Eye Institute with Mark Terry and Mike Straiko in Portland, Oregon, and refractive training at the Joint Warfighter Refractive Surgery Center in San Antonio, Texas with Colonel Matthew Caldwell. His research interests include surgical ergonomics, surgical simulation training, corneal eye banking, and lamellar keratoplasty. He is the husband to a beautiful wife, Larisa, and father of two lovely children, Edith (Edie) and Byron. Dr. Sales is also Canadian by birth!

